Book

My school has many books.

Every book has a cover.

A book folds open by its spine.

There are many paper pages

inside each book.

Each page is filled with words.

Backpack

I carry my books in my backpack.

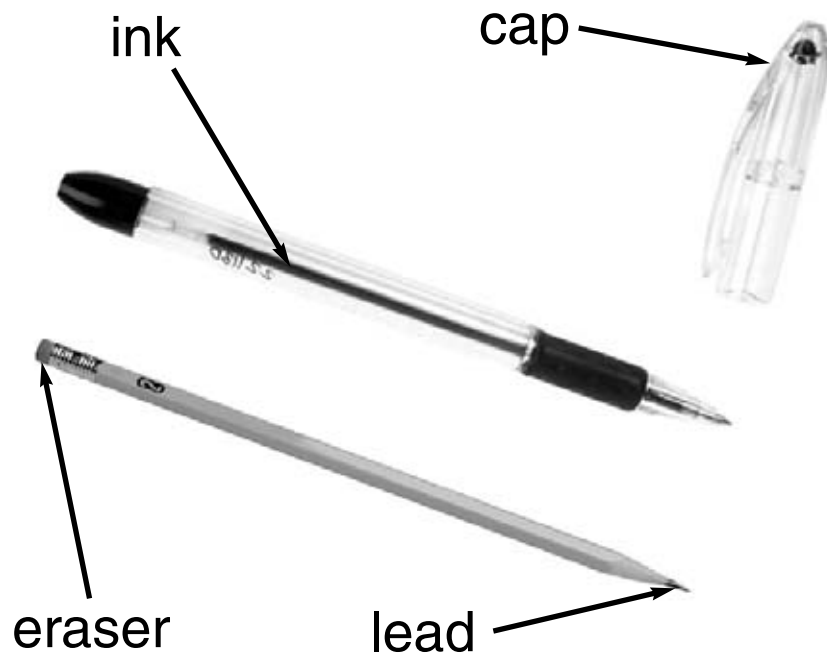

The straps go over my shoulders.

The backpack sits on my back.

I can pick it up by the handle.

I can zip the pockets closed with the zippers.

Pen and Pencil

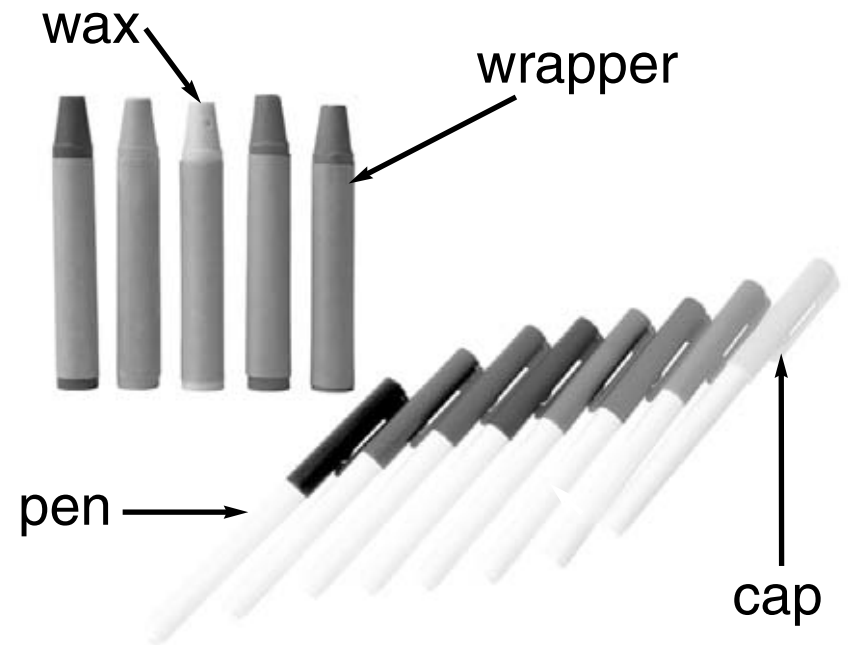

I write with pens and pencils.

Pens are filled with ink.

A pen's cap keeps the ink inside.

A pencil has a sharp lead tip.

The other end has an eraser
in case I need to fix mistakes.

Crayons and Markers

Crayons and markers let me draw with rainbow colors.

Crayons are made of wax.

The wax has a paper wrapper.

Markers are like big, colored pens.

Markers and pens have caps.

Paints and Paintbrush

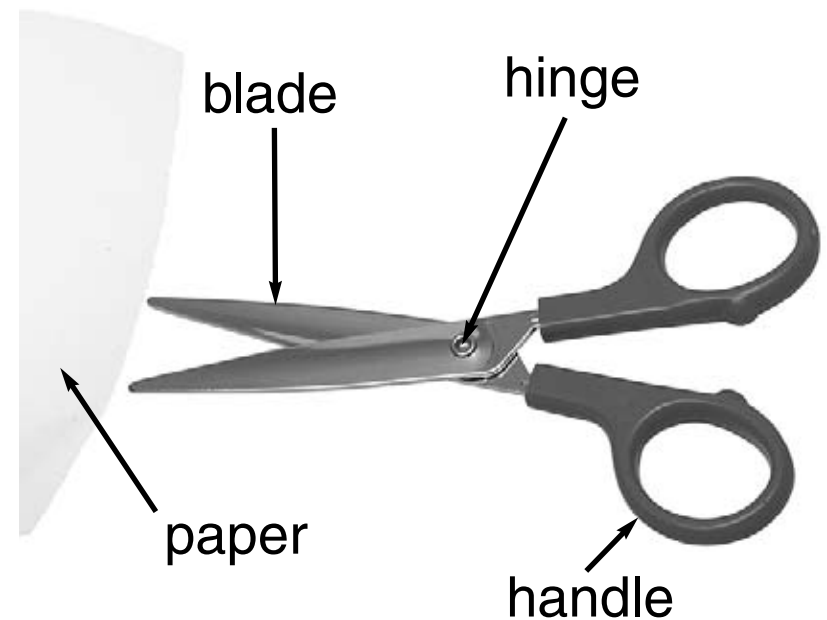

I can paint in rainbow colors.

My paintbrush has a long handle and bristles to hold the paint.

I dip my paintbrush into the jars.

The jars are full of paint.

My paints come in many colors.

Scissors and Paper

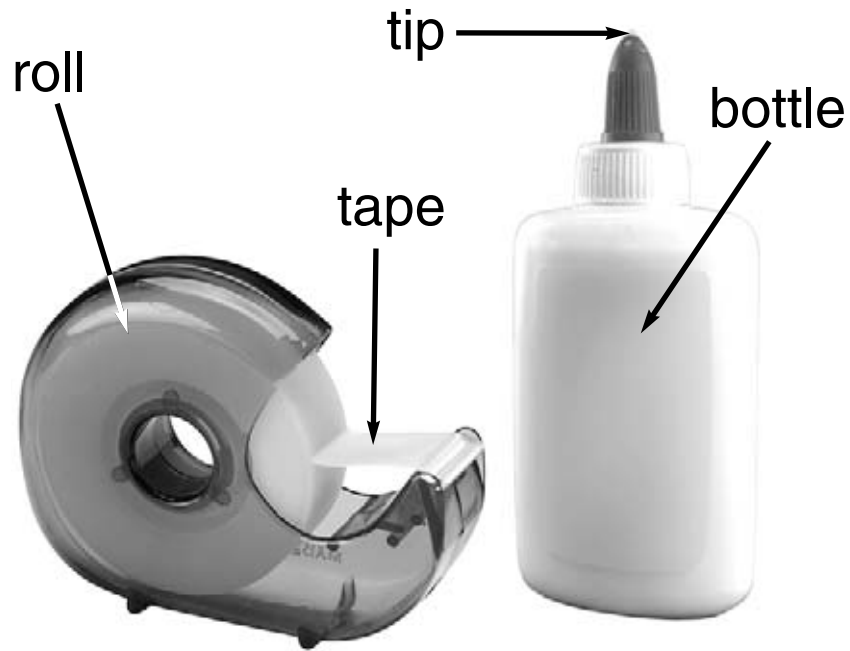

I am very careful with my scissors.

My thumb and fingers go through the holes in the handles.

I close the handles to make the blades close around the hinge.

The blades snip the paper.

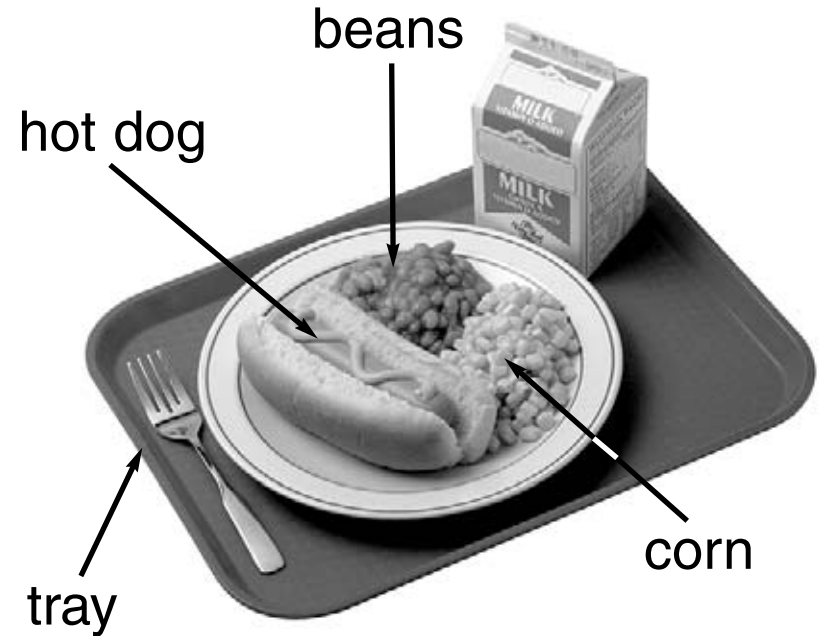

Glue and Tape

I use glue and tape to paste together things like paper.

I have a roll of sticky tape and a bottle of gooey glue.

I squeeze glue from the bottle's tip.

I pull pieces of tape from the roll.

Lunch

I carry my lunch on a plastic tray.

At school today they are serving hot dogs, beans, and corn.

I drink a carton of milk.

I always eat lunch because

I think better when I am not hungry.
