Place Setting

We set the table before we eat.

My fork is on my left.

My knife and spoon
are on my right.

My plate is in the middle.

Teacup and Saucer

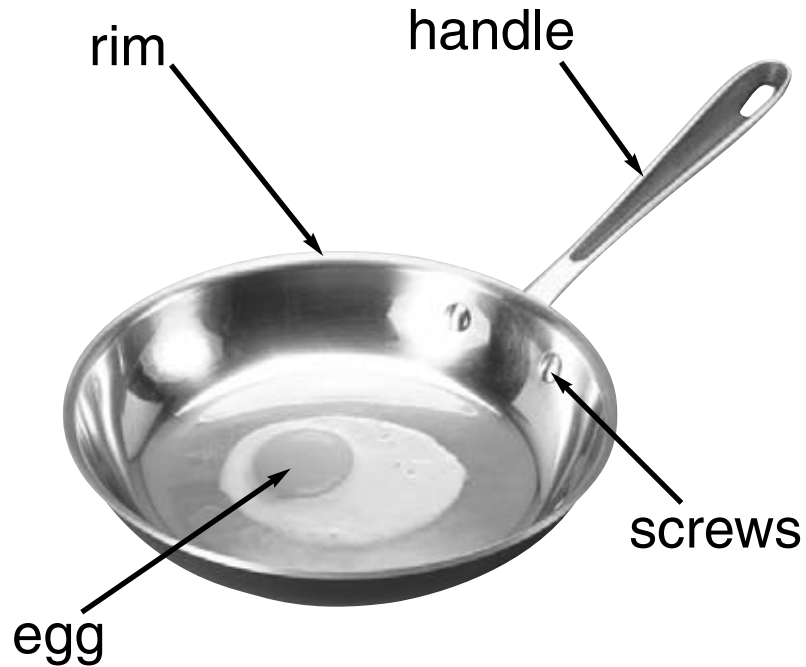

A teacup is a cup just for tea.

I drink hot tea from my teacup.

The cup has a handle on its side for me to hold when the cup gets hot.

The cup sits on a little round plate called a saucer.

Frying Pan

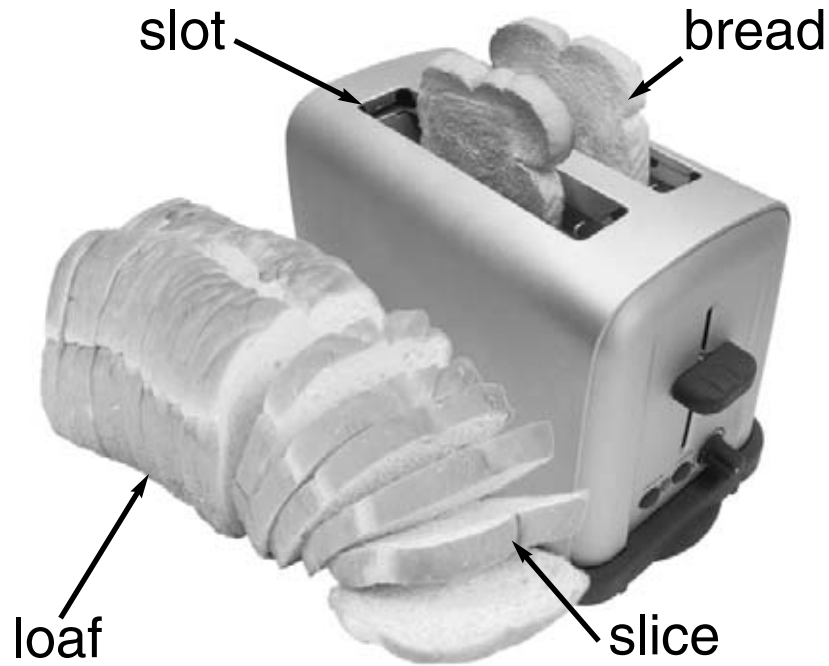

The frying pan sits on the stove.
 The pan gets really hot,
 so we hold the long handle.
 Two small screws keep the handle
 and the rim of the pan together.
 My dad fries an egg for me.

Egg Carton

At the store, eggs come in cartons.
 Each carton has at least two tabs
 on the bottom.
 The tabs fit in the slots on top.
 These tabs and slots help to hold the carton closed.

Toaster

I open a loaf of bread.

I put two slices of bread in the slots on top of our toaster.

I push down the knob on the side of the toaster.

The bread pops up when it is done!

Teapot

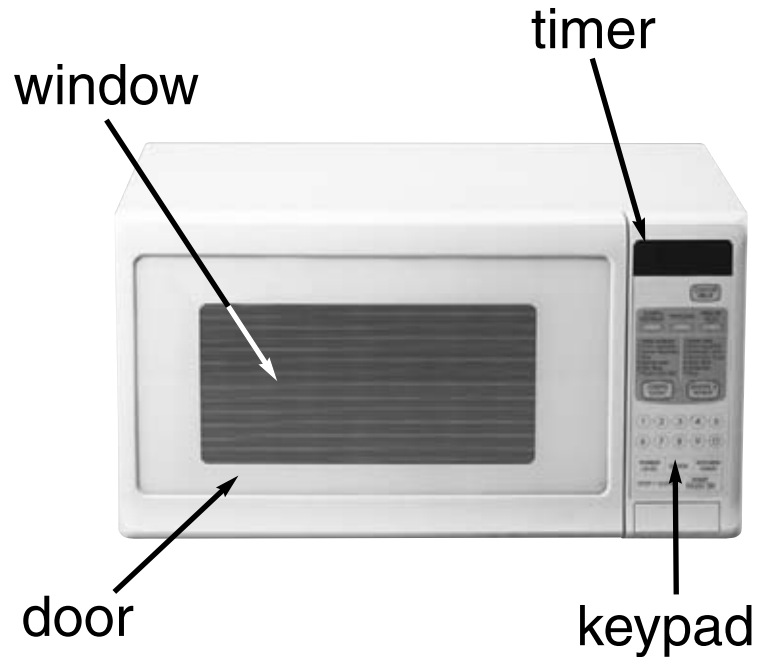

I have a little teapot.

It has a handle on the side.

The round teapot has a lid.

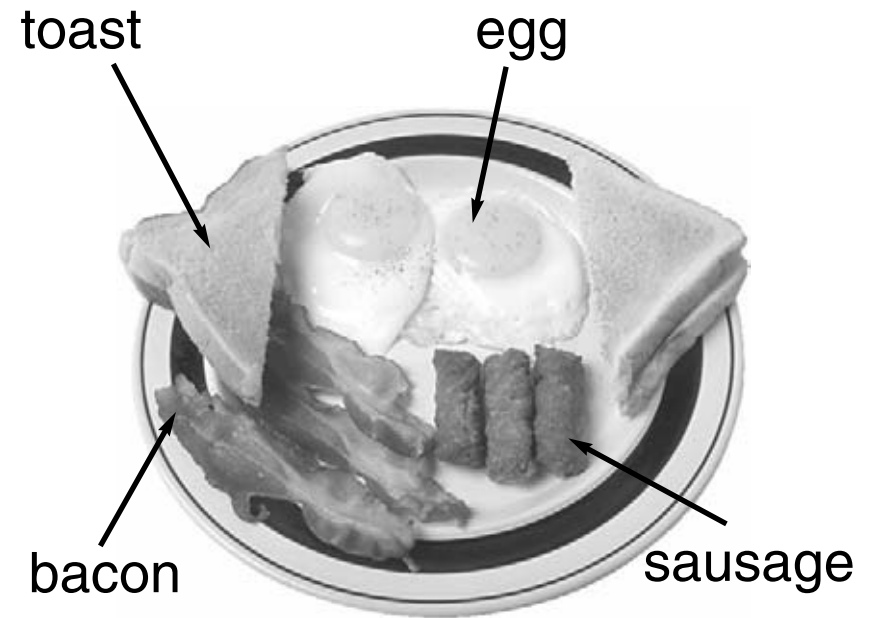

I make tea with a teabag.

I pour tea out of the curvy spout into my cup.

Microwave

The microwave heats up food.
 I put food in the microwave
 and close the door.
 I can see the food in the window.
 The keypad lets me set the time.
 The timer shows how long it takes.

Breakfast

I eat a big breakfast every morning.
 I have two fried eggs and four pieces of toast with butter.
 I have three sausages and
 three pieces of bacon.
 My plate is full.
